PAINT:

LATEX PAINT:

Latex paint is no longer considered a hazardous waste and may be discarded in household trash when COMPLETELY DRY AND HARD. Leave lids off the can so trash hauler can see the paint is dry. For small amounts, open can and allow to air dry. For larger amounts, add kitty litter, stir and allow to dry; or pour a thin layer (about one inch) of paint into a cardboard box lined with plastic. Allow to dry. Continue layering and drying one layer at a time until all the paint has hardened.

OIL-BASED PAINT:

Use up according to label instructions, give to someone who can use it, or take to a hazardous material collection program.

PESTICIDES AND HERBICIDES:

These products are poisonous to humans, pets, and wildlife. They should never be burned, buried, dumped on the ground or in water, or poured down the drain. Use the product according to label directions, give leftovers to someone who can safely use them, store until it can be used, or take to a hazardous materials program.

EXPIRED OR SURPLUS MEDICATION:

Do not flush or put down a drain! Keep medication in original packaging and put in the trash. Medications that enter the water stream are harmful to the environment. Some pharmacies will accept unused or expired medications, check with your local pharmacy.

MERCURY

Englewood/Littleton Wastewater Treatment Plant (just north of Dartmouth on South Platte River Drive). Liquid mercury containing devices such as thermostats and fluorescent lamps are accepted.
303-762-2600.

SHOPPING CART HOTLINE

303-762-2323

This is a City of Englewood Code Enforcement number.

Use the Shopping Cart Hotline to report abandoned shopping carts to the pick-up service. Shopping carts are normally collected the following Saturday.

PHONE BOOKS

It is estimated that more than 1 million pounds of paper is dropped off, unsolicited, in each new round of phone book delivery. If you are looking to reduce the number or eliminate unwanted phone books, you'll need to call the companies below and request removal from their delivery lists.
